4. Discussion of Draft on the Valuation of Technology

The BVB noted that a draft perspective paper on the valuation of Technology had been circulated by NK. Several Board members have already submitted edits and comments.

Other members of the BVB undertook to provide comments shortly.

Comments were made to the effect that the format and the language of the paper should be changed, to make it more accessible to the general reader. There was a suggestion that some details be included in the footnotes rather than the body of the article.

Other comments included:

- The importance of technology in transfer pricing, and specifically the importance of tax deductibility of software.

The Board reiterated that a subsequent paper will conclude the series of Perspective Papers on Intangible Assets. The Board agreed that the next paper will include a discussion on the valuation of data.

The BVB will try to finalise the paper on the valuation of technology at the meeting in Sydney.

No decision was taken nor any vote held on this topic.

Next Steps

The BVBV will continue to revise and review the perspectives paper on Technology with a view to publishing the perspectives paper in Q1/Q2 2023.

5. Other Business

The BVB held a brief discussion on the matter of uncertainty and risk in valuation.

This was understood in two ways:

The risk incurred by the valuer in the course of his/her work, as determined by the scope of the engagement. A Board member pointed out that a proper labelling of the nature of the engagement can be helpful. For instance, in Australia, a valuation calculation is not as robust as a full valuation.

The uncertainty in the findings, inherent to the nature of the asset(s) being valued. The valuation of certain assets (e.g. technology) is naturally more volatile than the valuation of other assets (e.g. Real Estate).

There was a general agreement that:

- The two issues (risk to the valuer and uncertainty around the valuation) should not be conflated.
- That this is an emerging topic worthy of future consideration by the BVB.

No decision was taken nor any vote held on this topic.

Next Steps

The BVB chair and Technical Director are to raise the issue of valuation risk and uncertainty in the coming months.

The meeting ended at 2126 UTC.
