The Board was advised that the IVSC had received 51 IVS Exposure Draft consultation responses so far and that the consultation closed on the 28th of July 2023.

The Board was further advised that there were a number of responses due to come over the next two weeks as a number of organisations were awaiting final board approval for their submissions.

The Board agreed that they would consider all consultation responses even those received post consultation.

The Board discussed the organisations and stakeholders that were still due to provide IVS Exposure Draft consultation responses and SRB members volunteered to chase responses within their organisations, where applicable.

The Board was also advised that the IVSC were aiming to receive over 100 responses, which would be more than double the number of responses received from previous IVS consultations.

The Board also discussed key issues emanating from the consultation responses received so far and was advised that the key issues so far were as follows; -

- Alignment with Other Standards
- Application Guidance/Examples
- Compliance Hierarchy Order
- Data/Interpretation/Hierarchy of Inputs/ESG
- Documentation – Significant Inputs, Record Keeping
- Must and Should
- Quality Control and Smaller Firms
- Use of Specialist/Use of Service Organisation Examples
- Valuation Risk

Further to discussion the SRB agreed that the working group meetings should be started as soon as possible.

Next steps

Technical Director is to send invited for the SRB Standard Setting working group meetings and is to compile the IVS Exposure Draft responses within a word document and to distribute to the SRB for consideration and review.

Discussion

Valuation of Data in Business Valuation (2023.07.21 IVSC SRB Topic Form - Data Valuation)

The Board was advised that the topic is part of the IVSC Perspective paper series on Intangible Assets (Part 5) and the subject of the perspectives paper is the valuation of data.

The Board discussed the topic form submitted by the BVB and made the following comments in relation to the establishment of pure data as an Intangible Asset and alignment with existing accounting standards in relation to data;

The key issues around recognition of IA under IFRS relate to the criteria. i.e.

(i) Identifiable, meaning

Separable – capable of being separated or divided from the entity and sold, transferred, licenced, rented or exchanged

Arises from contractual or legal right, regardless of whether those rights are transferrable or separable from the entity or from other rights and obligations.

(ii) Controlled by the entity and expected to provide future economic benefits to the entity – meaning

- Power to obtain future economic benefits; and
- Restrict access of others to those benefits

Generally, it is identifiability that stops recognition. But with pure data, I suspect that control is also an issue. Take a customer list in banking acquisitions – clearly just data with names and addresses on it of customers of the bank. But it meets all the criteria above. Crucially, no one else has the list. But with other pure data? How can you say that others don't know it? how can you prevent others from profiting from it? With a customer list its clear. Only you have it. With a list of 100,000 people and whether they like marmite or not – how do you know that only you have the information?

Data is a massive wide-ranging term that range from names and addresses to complex algorithms to crypto block chains. I suggest that you try and narrow it down to what you actually want to talk about...

Further to discussion the Business Valuation Technical Director was asked to review the email from Colin Martin on the 3rd of July 2023 in relation to data and to revise and resubmit the topic form taking into account requirements contained within the International Accounting Standards.

Next steps

The Business Valuation Technical Director is to revise the topic form to include reference to International Accounting Standards and once revised to resubmit the topic form to the Standards Review Board for approval.

Other Standard Setters Consultations (issb-rfi-2023-1.pdf AND ed-issb-2023-1-international-applicability-sasb-standards.pdf)

The Board discussed recent consultations issued by the ISSB and other standard setters and whether the IVSC should comment on other standard setters work.

The Board discussed what other standard setters did in relation to commenting on other standard setters' consultation and noted that FASB did not comment on AICPA consultation.

The Technical Director advised that in the past the IVSC would not engage in formal consultations issued by other standard setters but occasionally contacted them on an informal basis to discuss any issues in relation to different valuation perspectives or alignment with IVS.

The Board noted that certain consultations such as recent ISSB consultations required a response from the IVSC to ensure alignment and to provide a valuation perspective.

Further to discussion it was agreed that each consultation should be considered on a case-by-case basis and the relevant Technical Director should provide a topic form as proof of concept prior to engaging in a consultation.

Next steps

Prior to responding to consultations, the Technical Directors should submit a topic form as proof of concept for SRB approval. In situations where the Board is in disagreement with contents contained within other standard setters consultations, efforts should be made to verbally raise the concerns with the appropriate parties on an informal basis.

Application Guidance

The Financial Instruments Board chair advised that from an initial review of the IVS Exposure Draft consultation responses received in relation to the revised IVS 500 Financial Instruments several responses were requesting additional technical application guidance.

The Financial Instruments Board chair asked the Board's view in relation to issuing application guidance.

The Technical Director advise that in the past the previous incarnation of the Board had tried to issue illustrative examples for IVS and was advised by IVSC members and in particular VPO's that IVS was an overarching principle based standard and that the issuing of valuation guidance was not within their remit as this was issued by VPOs, who were members of the IVSC.

The Board discussed the issue further and noted that though there were VPO's for both business valuation and tangible assets valuation who issued more detailed guidance in relation to the implementation for IVS within their markets there were currently no VPOs for financial instruments with the exception of AICPA who issued valuation guidance.

Furthermore, the Board noted that there was a lack of technical guidance for Financial Instruments and if this was not issued by the IVSC it was not clear who would issue technical guidance to ensure a consistent and transparency approach for the valuation of financial instruments.

The Board discussed the possibility of issuing separate caveated staff papers as per IFRS or perspective papers to provide much needed technical guidance for the valuation of Financial Instruments.

Next steps

Further to a review of the IVS 500 Financial Instruments consultation responses the Financial Instruments Board will come up with a proposal to be approved by the Board in relation to issuing financial instruments technical guidance.
